Harmony Starts Something New

Farmers Give Rural Chautauqua.

The Harmony Consolidated District has started something new in these United States. The farmers of this district have for the past few years been making a big name for themselves but this year they have made it bigger than ever. The people of this community, both men and women, show an unusual progressive spirit, ever anxious to experiment and adopt new labor and time saving devices; they are always ready to co-operate with their fellowman which fact is the main reason for their unlimited success.

The last community event which has taken place in this district is the Farmers' Chautauqua, held Oct. 1-4. The program, which was made by the members of the community organization, gave special reference to agriculture and home development. Dr. P. G. Holden, with his assistants and Dr. Sam Jordan, one of the most interesting men in the state, spent all four days, giving lectures, informal discussions and giving field demonstrations. President Richardson, Miss Anthony, Mr. Steinsmeyer and Mrs. Watts, the organizer of the Baby movement in the United States, also gave interesting lectures.

An exhibition was held in the basement of the school. The measurements of babies and school children were also taught.

The average attendance for the neighborhood during the day was six hundred and for the evening, twice that number. Instructive and informative work was given during the day; in the evening, the people enjoyed musical numbers and moving pictures. The movies were of a type suited to children, as "Freckles," "Wild Flower" and the "Eternal City."

The closing feature of the Chautauqua was a pageant written by Miss Anthony, Mrs. Markley and Mrs. Wygent, representing the four years of vitalized agriculture as it is being worked out by the schools of the district. It was presented by the children from the consolidated schools of the district.

The first scene depicted an old fashioned school room, illustrating the unsanitary conditions which existed when the community drinking

OF THE

Northwest Missouri Teachers' Association

Regulations For Securing Reduced Rates Given---Enrollment Fee Admits to State Association

The Northwest Missouri Teachers Association will be held at the State Teachers College in Maryville, Oct. 23, 24, 25. This is one of the six divisions of the State Teachers Association, and an enrollment fee of $1.00 will admit one to the district association and the state association. An attractive program has been arranged and many noted educators will discuss the educational problems of the day, more vital than ever before.

It is hoped that boards of education will request their teachers to attend and that many board members will take advantage of the opportunity to know the teachers in this part of the state.

There is an unusual feature concerning the rates, this year. A special rate of one and one-third fare has been arranged for with the railroad officials. Certificates can be had at a purchasing point—not receipts—and when these are properly validated in Maryville, a one-third fare for the return trip sold on condition that there must be at least two hundred and fifty of these certificates. The reduced return rates are based on the following stipulations:

- (1) The full fare tickets going must be purchased at not less than seventy-five cents and not more than six dollars.
- (2) These purchases must be made between October 20 and 25 inclusive.
- (3) Return limit must not be later than October 29. For further information, address C. A. Hawkins, railroad secretary, Maryville, Mo.

College Loses Its Second Game

Palmer College, 26; Maryville, 0.

The Bear Cats suffered their second defeat, 26-0, Saturday, Oct. 11, at the hands of Palmer College of Ablany.

The game started with Maryville receiving the ball. During the course of this quarter, two forward passes were completed by Wray, left end. One made a thirty yard and one a twenty yard gain. This quarter ended without either side scoring.

During the second quarter Albany succeeded in making her first touchdown, but failed in kicking goal.

The third quarter gave Albany one more touchdown: they again failed to kick goal. During this Maryville had the ball within four yards of their own goal; on the first down, two line bucks and one end run were tried. Each attempt was unsuccessful. On the fourth down Maryville failed to complete a forward pass.

One other interesting feature was the touchdown by Whitby. The Bear Cats held Albany for three downs, Albany having only one yard to go. On the fourth down, Whitby dived over the line for one more touchdown.

The fourth quarter Albany made two touchdowns, each time kicking goal. Wray and J. Wells were forced out of the game; however, receiving no serious injuries.

During the game, Albany made eleven first downs and Maryville five.

One disadvantage to the Bear Cats was the loss of "Bill" Richards, captain and full-back. Bill received a slight injury in practice last week, but he will be back in the game in good time for the game Friday.

ANNUAL WALKOUT OBSERVED

Students Forget All Cares. Slogans of the Day: Less Work---More E's;
We Won't Work Without Play.

The annual walk out took place Tuesday, Oct. 7, and it went off in great style. Under the management of the class presidents, the representatives of the various classes pulled off the affair without a hitch. The long march ended in the Herron grove northeast of town where the day was spent.

At eight o'clock in the morning, the students assembled at the east door. The college band struck up a couple of tunes, and the march began down the long walk, headed by the college band, with "Bill" Richards as drum major. They were followed by girls carrying large banners inscribed with the slogans of the day: "Less Work, More E's:" and "We Won't Work Without Play." Next in line came the student body. The parade moved east on Third Street to the Burlington depot, and then north to the grounds. The band kept the music going during the parade.

Soon after the students arrived the faculty appeared in automobiles. They joined in the games with the students. Baseball and volley ball were the main attractions. Owing to the grass being covered with dew, some excellent acrobatic stunts were pulled off by the players. The men of the faculty showed the students that they hadn't forgotten the game. Coach Rice proved himself to be quite a bugler. A shower of walnuts directed at him during the performance didn't bother him. But the most important event did not happen until noon.

Just before noon a jitney drove up with a 50 gallon barrel of cider. Other eats began to arrive shortly afterward, and soon all were in line for dinner. Dinner was served in cafeteria style, the students paying his assessment before receiving a plate. Each student roasted his own wienie over a fire built by the boys. The dinner was composed of real home made baked beans, pickles, buns, weiners, ice cream, cookies, and cider. After dinner, picture-taking occupied the remainder of the day. "Jim," the kodak man, a former student, took several snapshots.

Those who played in the band were Ralph Yehle, Loren Schnabel, Chas. Wallace, Harry Nelson, Arthur Elmore, Ferd Masters, Ernest McDonald, Howard Stewart and Henry Sawyers.

The day was brought to a close by an informal dance in the college library. From the committee's point of view, the best feature of the closing event was that it proved conclusively that the students can have a wonderfully good time at a properly conducted dance and that our students will respond instantly and courteously to suggestions from their class advisers.

The class presidents and the committee are to be congratulated on their business-like management. For the first time there was money enough to pay all bills, and enough left over to repay those students who last year had to make good the large deficit.

Mayfield-Morris.

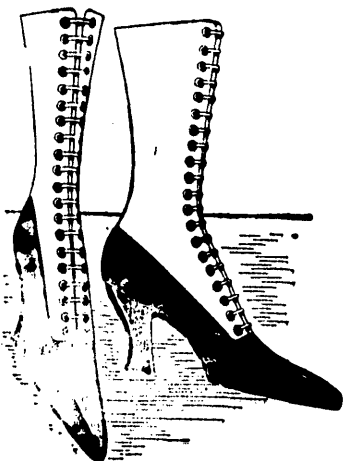

Marjorie Mayfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mayfield of Parnell and Blace Morris were married Oct. 1 at the Catholic church.

They will make their home on a farm near Parnell. Miss Mayfield is a former student of the College and has been teaching for the past two years.

Lula Hobson, a former student, visited Oct. 4 and 5 with her parents northeast of Parnell. She is teaching near Pattonsburg.

cup and cold lunches were in vogue. A little sunbonnet baby and overall boys drill with the crops as corn, wheat and oats represented by the pupils, was the main feature of the scene. "Canning," "drying" and "preserving" represented the proper way of preparing food. The idea of the community ever becoming more prominent was demonstrated by a picture of a country home, mother and child with the school nurse and doctor.

LITERARY SOCIETY NOTES.

Eurekan.

The Eurekans had a short but "peppy" meeting Oct. 9. As there was no special program, those present just had a jolly time playing games and singing. One of the games that was the most fun was a description game. Each one wrote a description of another member present and then all joined in guessing the person whom the description fitted. Depend upon Big Bill for a clever write up. He described a young man who had been in the navy and was still fond of Ships. Surely everyone guessed to whom he referred.

The program for Oct. 16 is:

Miss James' first solo, The Fairy's Lullaby, was followed by Little Mother O' Mine. Nothing to Say was the name of Miss Croy's reading. Her encore was the verses, The Troubled Dutchman. Miss Foland interpreted for us Il Trovatore.

For finale to an already good repast, letters to the society from Hester Deneen and Ivah Sparks were read.

Elsie Houston visited friends in Maryville Oct. 5.

Y. W. C. A. Chairmen Appointed.

The Cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. met Wednesday, Oct. 1. Biology Class Make Some Startling Demonstrations in Bacteriological Analysis.

The biology class has been making some tests to determine about how many microbes and "yourcrobies" individuals ordinarily carry around on their persons. The tests were made by preparing sterile culture media and then exposing them in various ways.

A culture plate exposed to the quiet air of the room collected about fifteen bacteria, but behold when the sweepers flourish had been made the number increased to about one hundred and when a rag was shaken in the face of a plate about seven hundred were found lodged there.

You should know what a good incubator your mouth and uncleaned teeth make when, after a single night of bacterial growth, the microscope reveals a wriggling, squirm-mass of micro-organism from a little scraping of the teeth. Imagine what a graveyard must be represented in the mouth of a person whose breath almost knocks you down as will occasionally happen in the presence of some of our own students.

The touch of an ordinarily clean finger will leave from five to fifteen colonies of microbes—moral, keep your fingers out of your mouth and off of my food.

The corner of a thumb turned page in a book disclosed the presence of about fifty of "yourcrobies." Do you know whose they are?

Even a smooth shiny penny had on it about twenty-five, some of which probably came from Borneo. Don't swallow pennies — they may grow legs and wriggle.

Five drops of city water had eight hundred colonies and you should see the menagerie which the microscope shows in the residue of some strained water. Hasten the day when the new city water plant is installed.

A hair was well covered with bacteria. Keep it out of the butter. Finger nail cleanings were loaded. Clean them before you knead the pie crust. A vigorous attempt was made to catch a sneeze, but no one could be found who could muster the audacity to explode one, even under the stimulus of red pepper.

There is no doubt about where the housefly walked across a culture—every step left its mark and it wouldn't take a bloodhound to track it, either. If Longfellow had lived in the days of the microscope, he would have written something like this:

"Tracks of houseflies all remind us
We should keep them off our food,
For the germs they leave behind

Are a menace to our good."

King City defeated Maysville 27-0, Friday, Oct. 4. Both teams are new at football. Lowell Livengood, one of our alumni, is coaching the King City team, while the coach of the Maysville team is Herman Crookshank, who coached Excelsior Springs, the winning basket ball team last year.

His football team won over the Lathrop high school by a score of 13-0, the first time in ten years that Liberty has defeated Lathrop in football.

Dr. Davis Begins Work in Montana.

The following article is taken from the Inter Mountain Educator, an educational journal which is published at Missoula, Montana:

The State Board of Education filled the vacancy in the presidency of the Montana Normal College by the election of Dr. Sheldon E. Davis of Maryville, Missouri. Dr. Davis is a graduate of Warrensburg State Normal school and of the University of Missouri, where he received both the Bachelor's and the Master's degree. He also holds a Ph. D. from Columbia University. After considerable experiences in public school work, Dr. Davis was for six years associate professor of Education at the Warrensburg Normal school, and was for two years connected with the State Department of Education in Missouri. For the last four years he has been director of the Department of Education in the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College of Maryville, Missouri.

He is the author of a teacher training syllabus widely used in several states, and of two books, one, "The Work of the Teacher," just published by the MacMillan Company, and one on the Character and Development of Education Periodicals in the United States. Dr. Davis entered upon his duties at Dillon Sept. 1.

Miss DeLuce entertained Jessie Z. Murphy and Alyce Leeper at six o'clock dinner Oct. 6. Dinner was followed by a trip to the Empire to see Marguerite Clark in "Little Miss Hoover." The very enjoyable evening was concluded by a visit to the Candy Kitchen.

Primary Council to Have Luncheon October 23.

Miss Ella Victoria Dobbs, assistant in the Manual Arts in Missouri University is to speak Thursday evening at the District Teachers' Association. She is also the National Chairman of the National Conference of Primary Education. Each district in the state has its organization for Primary Education.

A luncheon is to be given Thursday noon, Oct. 23 for the Council at the Bainum Hotel. It is hoped that all members of the Council, superintendents, and all people interested in the phase of work carried on in the lower grades will attend the luncheon. Those who wish to attend should notify Miss Mildred Miller not later than Oct. 21.

Meryle Miller, who was recently operated upon at Trenton, Mo., for appendicitis, writes that she is improving rapidly, but is still confined to the house. Both faculty and student body are glad to know that Meryle is getting along so well and hope that she may soon return to the College.

Several Events are Given in Honor of Miss Reid.

The tea given Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 8 for Miss Reid was well attended. The faculty and students were invited to meet Miss Reid at this time. A short musical program was given: Alyce Leeper sang and music was furnished during the hour by Helen Dean, Marie Price, and Mary Carpenter. Refreshments were served by the Eureka Society.

Grace Stevenson entertained Wednesday evening, Oct. 8 at her home on South Main St. for Miss Rebecca Reid and the members of the Cabinet and advisory board of the Y. W. Plans were made with the advice of Miss Reid for the coming year. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Harriet Van Buren.

A delightful luncheon was given for Miss Reid Thursday noon, Oct.

9 The tables were attractively arranged in the ladies' parlor and vases of garden flowers were used as centerpieces. The luncheon was served in two courses, the first course consisting of fruit salad, pimento cheese sandwiches, olives, hot chocolate; the second course of maple nut ice cream and wafers. The other invited guests were the ladies of the faculty, the cabinet and advisory board of the Y. W.

After the luncheon Miss Reid gave an instructive talk on Social Service. She advised the girls to make a survey of the town and see what work they could do here. She suggested several things they might do, such as working with the welfare board in supplying the needy of the town with food and clothing and also to read or talk to people who were shut in or sick.

Miss Reid left Thursday night, Oct. 10 for Kirksville, Mo.

Edith Kidder, a former student, who teaches in Bethany, Mo., spent Oct. 4 and 5 with her parents near Maryville.

Miss Anthony left Oct. 8 for Omaha, where she will study the fall styles in hats, preparatory to a course in Fall Millinery.

Miss Edith Wells, who has been visiting relatives in and near Maryville since her return from France, left Oct. 4 for Le Grande, California, where she has accepted a position in a consolidated school.

Where They All Go.

THE STROLLER.

The Stroller attended the walkout Tuesday, and saw, Oh, so many funny things that if he were to tell them all it would take all eight pages of this paper. Prexy asked that when we had the walkout, he should be informed of it. He was given "wind" of the annual event last Friday, but had evidently forgotten it by the following Tuesday, for he arrived on the scene just as the last bun disappeared. Of course, it was a shame for him to lose his bun, but he, as well as the Stroller, should remember walkout day; it only happens once a year and he might get hungry before it comes again.

People of Maryville scarcely realize there is a College out on the hill until something exciting happens concerning it. As the parade went thru Main Street from the College on Walkout Day, the great commotion and unusual noise aroused some of the unthinking folk. They inquired as to the source and cause, and one good preacher was informed that the College was on fire. He forgot the fact that we are living in a fire proof building out here, and in a very few minutes, he came rushing to the school to get his little girl who attends the kindergarten. He was, however, disappointed—it was only walkout day.

The Stroller suggests that the next walkout day, all plans for such be kept secret until the morning of the occurrence. As the Stroller passed in the halls, small groups would be talking in subdued whispers and as soon as they perceived the Stroller coming near, a loud, sh-h-h was heard from one end of the hall to another. How could the Stroller and faculty keep from knowing the "surprise?"

'Tis queer how pleasure makes us strong and able-bodied. Mr. Cook was scarcely able to come to school Tuesday, Oct. 7, on account of rheumatism, but when he arrived at a spot east of town where a little baseball was being carried on, he was in the midst, and was cried the best player on the team.

The Stroller in his perambulations at the picnic grounds Tuesday, saw Clifford Hull (?) take out a green ticket which very much resembled the activity ticket (which Mr. Rickembrode so emphatically announces cannot be replaced if lost) and start to hand it to the collectors, but seeing that others were handing over 50c, he suddenly jammed it into his pocket and tranquilly produced the money. The Stroller was rather disappointed as he would have liked to have seen how the ticket was received.

The Stroller feels sorry for Ralph Yehle—he feels sorry, of course for Viola Barber, but sorrier for Ralph.

When Viola fell into the creek, she had a nice young man come to her rescue, but we didn't see any good looking young woman in Ralph's case.

The Oct. 15 Vogue, according to notice will be delayed by the printers' strike in New York City. The College doesn't need it. The very latest style is neither low heels nor high heels, which is even going one better the posters in the hall. The present style is to knock off one heel and hobble around on the one remaining. For instance, we refer you to Maude Fleming, Celia Welden or Viola Barber. The style was initiated Walkout Day.

Miss Miller, roasting her weiner over the fire lets it fall in. Stroller overhears following comment:

"Oh, I don't care, ashes are good for indigestion, anyway."

Enel Ramsey asks small boy: "Is this the gate everyone has been going thru?"

Small boy: "Yes mam."

Harry Nelson to Ralph Wray: "Put enough ice cream on this plate for three of us."

Harry and Verne Dempsey go down in the ditch and eat the three portions.

Bright boys. Faculty take notice!

Girl in upstairs window to girl coming up long walk:

"Hey, come up to this here walkout meeting."

Mr. Rice (also coming up the walk): "And yet they wonder how the faculty finds out things."

Miss Winn says that the reason her door was locked at the Class Presidents' meeting was to keep folks out.

Miss Brunner Attends Meeting in St. Louis.

Miss Brunner returned Sunday, Oct. 4, from St. Louis, where she attended the meeting of the Committee on Resolutions of the State Teachers Association.

Miss Gecks, the president, presided over the meeting. The two most important points considered were:

1. The constitution of the Association.

2. The certification of teachers.

One other point which received much consideration, was the question of teachers' salaries. It was shown that a great number of the teachers in St. Louis had left the teaching profession and were in other professions making double the salaries which they formerly received.

The directors of the Association secured the building, having the largest seating capacity of any single building in St. Louis for the State meeting which is expected to be the best meeting in the history of the Association.

Miss Reid Talks to Y. W. Girls.

The Y. W. held its weekly meeting Wednesday morning, Oct. 8. Miss Rebecca Reid, the Y. W. secretary of the South Central Field, gave a very interesting talk to the girls. Miss Reid was formerly a teacher, but decided to take up religious educational work and go to Honolulu, then she was asked to take charge of the South Central Field of the Y. W. and she decided upon this work. Miss Reid in her talk compared the women of 1900 years ago and the women of today. She said that the women of today in the United States had the greatest freedom of any women in the world. Woman must be educated, Miss Reid continued, for she must have education for any branch of service she might take up. Education is the solution of the world's problem.

Miss Reid also mentioned the International School Convention at Des Moines, which will meet the last day of this year and the first few days of next year. Each college may send two delegates and one faculty member and the girls were asked to plan for this convention.

College Boys Entertained by Bible Class of Christian Church.

The Young Men's Bible Class of the Christian Church invited the boys of the College to spend a social evening at the church Monday, Oct. 7. Quite a number of the fellows attended.

Ellis Cook, the lawyer, presided at the meeting. Rev. Snodgrass, W. A. Blagg, president of the Board of Regents of the College, Dean Colbert, Coach Rice, Judge Dawson, and Prosecuting Attorney McCaffrey, all gave short talks.

Another visitor, a young man from Mesopotamia, was present. As he was not able to speak English very well, Rev. Snodgrass told his story and his mission here. The young man's mother and his two brothers had been killed by the Turks. He managed to escape, but not until he had received a severe bayonet wound. He came to this country at the request of the patriarch of Mesopotamia to raise funds for the relief of his people. Those present chipped in liberally. When called upon to stand up, he was given loud applause.

The boys had a good time, and for once all had enough ice cream, cookies, and hot chocolate.

Mr. and Mrs. U. D. Casey and their son and daughter of Atchison, Kansas, arrived in Maryville, Friday, Oct. 4 and spent the week at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. W. Glenn. Mr. Casey and children returned home Saturday; Mrs. Casey remained here until Wednesday. Mr. Glenn is the new instructor in Manual Arts.

A Compliment and a Promise.

We don't want to pat ourselves on the back, but Mr. Swinehart has been hearing complimentary remarks in regard to the Green and White. Advertisers seem to appreciate our publication and are warm in its praise. This knowledge certainly calls for renewed energy on the part of our new staff.

We greatly appreciate any words of praise. We are trying our hardest but we will try harder.

When we were high school freshmen we had our motto, "Green but Growing." That same motto might well apply at present, for this staff is the first one of which no member has had any journalistic work before. Not only are we novices but we are trying to edit an eight page weekly. And if you have never tried it you don't in the least realize how news shrinks after it reaches the press, just naturally does like woolen underwear which hasn't been laundered with Wool soap.

We have already loosed the Bear Cats—we hope that that is a prophecy as well as a mistake, and have made the girls' chorus and the orchestra full.

This isn't an excuse but it might be a reason, the proof readers attended, no they joined in, the Walkout the day they read copy for Oct. 8 edition. And there was cider a plenty and to spare.

We thank you for the compliment, we promise to do our level best, and we confidentially whisper in your ear these words similar to those once uttered by Anne of Green Gables after dyeing her hair green instead of brown. We may make mistakes sometimes, but we never make the same one twice.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Faris of Fairbury, Nebr., arrived in Maryville Oct. 7 to visit their son, Elmer, who is in the St. Francis hospital. Mrs. Faris was formerly Miss Fannie Hope, a teacher in our college.

Miss Stenna Dooley of Howard Payne College enrolled at the State Teachers College Oct. 8 for the fall term.
